HONORARY DEGREE
RANDOLPH RELIHAN SMITH
DOCTOR OF LAWS

Determination, dedication and diversity are the hallmarks of the life and career of Clemson alumnus and plastic and reconstructive surgeon Randolph R. Smith.

Upon graduation from Richmond Academy in his hometown of Augusta, Georgia, Randy came to Clemson in 1962 on a football scholarship under Coach Frank Howard. An outstanding center, Randy was drafted by the New York Jets of the American Football League and the Atlanta Falcons of the National Football League. In his determination to study medicine, he passed up his final year of college eligibility and an opportunity to play professional football. A medical degree was this student-athlete's prime objective, and he credits his parents, Maxine and Lester Smith, with imbuing him with the proper respect for academics as well as athletics.

Graduating from Clemson in 1966 with a Bachelor of Science degree in pre-medicine, Randy Smith headed back home for the Medical College of Georgia where he received his Doctor of Medicine degree in 1970. While serving as a major in the United States Army Reserve Medical Corps (1971-1978), he spent a year's internship in Internal Medicine at the Bowman Gray School of Medicine of Wake Forest University and four years as a resident in Otolaryngology-Head and Neck Surgery at Duke University. Dr. Smith returned to the Medical College of Georgia for his plastic surgery training in 1975, followed by a Christine Kleinert Fellowship in Hand Surgery at the University of Louisville (Kentucky). He established a private practice in Augusta in 1978.

Certified by the American Board of Plastic Surgery and the American Board of Otolaryngology, Dr. Smith is an assistant clinical professor of plastic surgery at the Medical College of Georgia. A fellow of the American College of Surgeons and the American Academy of Otolaryngology-Head and Neck Surgery, he is also a member of the American Society of Plastic and Reconstructive Surgeons, the American Society of Aesthetic Plastic Surgery, the Southeastern Society of Plastic and Reconstructive Surgeons, and other national and regional medical societies including the American Medical Association.

During his career at University Hospital in Augusta, which has been in continuous operation since 1818, Dr. Smith has chaired numerous committees and was appointed to the Richmond County Hospital Authority and the University Hospital governing board. He has also served as president of the medical staff at the historic institution.

Dedicated to using his talents and skills to help the less fortunate, Dr. Smith has served as a volunteer surgeon and lecturer in plastic and hand surgery in remote and underdeveloped areas of the world. Since 1982, he has carried out missions of mercy in Japan, Hong Kong, the People's Republic of China, Nigeria, Kenya, Egypt, Venezuela, El Salvador, South Korea and Poland. He concentrates his work on the treatment of congenital defects, cancer and mutilation caused by civil war, as well as the restoration of form and function of injured human limbs.

His interest in his own community has led him into paths of diversity beyond his busy medical career. Since his younger days as an acolyte, he has been an active member of St. Paul's Episcopal Church where he serves on the senior vestry. He is a longtime member and director of the Exchange Club of Augusta, which annually raises tens of thousands of dollars for Augusta's needy. Dr. Smith is a founding director and executive committee member of the Georgia Bank and Trust Company, a leading financial institution in the Augusta area.

This surgeon's eminent achievements and meritorious contributions have earned him recognition in Who's Who in America and Who's Who in Medicine and Health Care.

It is a most significant occasion when Clemson University recognizes one of its own sons with the presentation of an honorary doctorate. We hold Dr. Randolph R. Smith and his achievements in the highest esteem, and it is a distinct privilege to honor him with the presentation of the honorary degree, Doctor of Laws.

CYRIL THOMAS WYCHE
DOCTOR OF LAWS

Clemson University Founder Thomas Green Clemson would have been honored to share the stage with Greenville attorney and environmentalist C. Thomas Wyche. A creative and innovative thinker, a visionary with strong leadership qualities and impeccable integrity, a humanitarian—Mr. Wyche, like Mr. Clemson, is a true Renaissance man.

In the early 1970s, South Carolina faced an environmental tragedy as unchecked development threatened a Blue Ridge Mountain wilderness. Mr. Wyche envisioned a disturbing future for some of South Carolina's most spectacular scenery, and with the help of other environmentalists, he headed it off. In 1973, he organized Naturaland Trust, the state's first conservation land trust, which ultimately would preserve a 40,000-acre wilderness area spanning the Blue Ridge Mountains of northern Greenville County now known as the Mountain Bridge Wilderness Area. Part of South Carolina's Blue Ridge Escarpment, the area is located between two Greenville County watersheds, Table Rock and Poinsett.

For the next 20 years, the Mountain Bridge project was, in essence, the story of a series of cooperative partnerships created and sustained by Mr. Wyche—partnerships with individual landowners, local, state and federal government agencies, and private industry to acquire the land and assist in its conservation and management. Without Mr. Wyche's keen insight, appreciation for the environment and furious determination, a part of South Carolina's heritage would have been forever and irretrievably lost.

Mr. Wyche was recognized for his diligent conservation efforts last year by Governor David Beasley, who presented him with the Order of the Palmetto, the highest award for public service given by the state of South Carolina. Also in 1996, Mr. Wyche was the single national recipient of the Alexander Calder Conservation Award. The South Carolina Wildlife Federation Environmentalist of the Year in 1979, he was one of ten national recipients of the Gulf Oil National Conservation Award in 1983 and one of four national recipients of the Nature Conservancy Oak Leaf Award in 1995.

Mr. Wyche's passion for the wilderness is captured by his photography and text in South Carolina's Mountain Wilderness: The Blue Ridge Escarpment, a coffee-table book published by Westcliffe Publishers in 1994. A more recent book of photographs by Tommy Wyche, The Blue Wall, Wilderness of the Carolinas and Georgia, is the springboard for his current major conservation project, the preservation of 50,000 acres of the mountain gorges surrounding Lake Jocassee. This area, together with the contiguous Mountain Bridge Wilderness, is described as "the most significant wilderness remaining in South Carolina."

The Greenville native's commitment to community services has led him to serve on the boards of Citizens and Southern Corporation, the Greater Greenville Chamber of Commerce, the United Way of Greenville County and the Greenville County Foundation. He also has been active in the leadership of the YMCA, the Greenville Little Theater, the Greenville Arts Festival Association, the Greenville Symphony Association and the Greenville Country Club.

Tommy Wyche graduated from Yale University in 1946 with a degree in electrical engineering and earned his law degree from the University of Virginia in 1949. Since that time, he has been in the private practice of law with the firm of Wyche, Burgess, Freeman and Parham, P.A., concentrating in corporate, securities, tax, and merger and acquisition law. The senior partner is a member of the Greenville County Bar Association, the S.C. Bar Association, the American Bar Association and the American Judicature Society.

We hold Thomas Wyche and his lifetime achievements in the highest esteem. It is a distinct privilege to honor him for his foresight and dedication to the heritage of South Carolina with the presentation of the honorary degree, Doctor of Laws.

Matthew William Gissendanner

Matthew William Gissendanner, an undergraduate student majoring in Chemical Engineering, is from West Columbia, South Carolina. The son of John and Cassandra Gissendanner, Matthew is a Cooperative Education student and came to Clemson from Brookland-Cayce High School. He was awarded a National Merit Scholarship, the Kennelly-Voss Scholarship, the Coca-Cola Scholarship, the R. C. Byrd, and Tandy Scholarships. He also received the Palmetto Fellowship. At Clemson, he is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta (scholastic freshman fraternity), Golden Key Honor Society, Alpha Phi Omega Science Fraternity, and Tau Beta pi (Engineering scholastic fraternity). He won the 1997 Trustees' Medal for Oratorical Excellence.

Sherlock Elliott

Sherlock Elliott, a graduating student in Marketing with a minor in Speech and Communications, is from Eastover, South Carolina. The son of Katherine B. Elliott, he has been a Dean's List Student and he won the 1996 Trustees' Medal for Oratorical Excellence. Elliott is also a member of Kappa Alpha Order.

The Academic Procession

The Academic procession is composed of the faculty, staff, officers, trustees, and honored guests of the University. Faculty enter by college and each college is preceded by its marshal, a senior faculty member, with the college baton, described under University Regalia.

Following the banner bearers are the college marshals and faculty. Each banner is a combination of colors that declare the disciplines taught in that college. These colors, which were established by the American Council on Education, are as follows:

College	Colors	Discipline
Agriculture, Forestry and Life Sciences	Maize Brown Golden Yellow	Agriculture Forestry Life Sciences
Architecture, Arts and Humanities	Lilac Brown White Dark Blue	Architecture Arts Humanities Philosophy
Business and Public Affairs	Drab Copper Peacock Blue Cream	Accounting and Business Economics Public Administration Social Sciences
Engineering and Science	Orange Golden Yellow	Engineering Science
Health, Education and Human Development	Light Blue Apricot Cream	Education Nursing Social Sciences
Library	Lemon Yellow	Library
Staff	Purple and Orange	Academic Support

Collegiate faculty follow their banner in order of academic rank wearing academic costumes of medieval origin. Those who have received their degrees from institutions outside the United States wear costumes specified by the awarding institutions.

The academic costumes of faculty whose degrees are from United States' institutions are specified by a uniform code maintained by the American Council on Education. Caps are black and are usually mortar boards with tassels. Doctors of Philosophy wear gold tassels usually of metallic thread; other degrees wear black or discipline colors.

The bachelor's gown is simple and black with long, pointed sleeves. Masters' gowns, also black, are longer than bachelors. Older gowns have sleeves that terminate at the elbow while those since 1960 have sleeves extended to the wrist. Doctors' gowns are full, with bell-like sleeves. The front is marked by velvet panels and the sleeves are marked by three velvet bars. While most gowns are black with black velvet, one variation is to replace black velvet with velvet in the discipline color. A second variation is a colored gown usually of the university's colors.

All hoods specify the level of degree, the type of discipline studied and the awarding institution. First, degree level is signified by the size of the hood with bachelors' smallest, masters' larger, and doctors' quite large and of a different shape. Clemson does not award hoods to bachelors. The width of the velvet trim also conveys the degree. Secondly, the degree is indicated by the color of the trim edging the hood to form the throat over the gown. The most frequently seen is dark blue, which designates the doctor of philosophy (Ph.D.) degree. Finally, the color of the hood's lining specifies the awarding institution. The colors are displayed in combinations that are drawn from heraldry. Notice that the Clemson University hood is lined with purple through which is an orange chevron (a "V"). Although many combinations are duplicated by dozens of institutions, Clemson is presently the only institution with that registered combination.

The officers, trustees, and honored guests wear academic, ecclesiastical, or military regalia as set forth by their professions. They are preceded by the University Marshal. Clad in a gown of office in gold and purple, the marshal wears no hood and bears the University mace. At the ceremony's close, the faculty do not exit as a part of the recessional but are dismissed, along with students and guests, when the marshal leaves the coliseum.

The University Regalia

The University mace is the symbolic representation of the whole of Clemson University and must be present at any convocation where the University, through its delegated members, is acting officially. At any official convocation such as commencement, the University Marshal, carrying the mace, precedes the President into the assembly. The mace rests before the President's chair or speaker's stand throughout the ceremony, and its removal from the assembly at the close of a convocation is symbolic of the official withdrawal of the University and, thus, the close of the proceedings.

The decorative design of Clemson's mace is derived from the ceremonial maces carried by heads of state and church in the Middle Ages. Its basic clublike shape, however, is much more ancient, probably going back to man's prehistory. It is made of walnut wood and silver, with the seal of the University in gold and the University colors represented by insets of cornelian (orange) and amethyst (purple). Amethyst is also the state stone of South Carolina.

The Presidential chain and seal is symbolic of the authority vested in the office of president by the governing body of the University. Only the University President may wear it, and while wearing it he speaks for the whole body of the institution. Clemson's chain and seal are made of silver and gold, and cornelian and amethyst.

The batons of the college marshals also descend from medieval "staffs of office" which were carried by the senior members of departments of state or church. They display the seal of the University and the symbolic color of the discipline to which the college belongs. Clemson's batons are made of walnut wood and silver with the various disciplines inset with enamel.

The University regalia were designed and executed by Mr. Robert Ebendorf. Mr. Ebendorf is twice winner of the Tiffany Award and one of the most acclaimed goldsmiths of our era. The enamel plaques for the batons were executed by the late Professor Marshall C. Bell, and the lapidary work was executed by the late Mr. C. C. Wilson of Clemson University.

To earn Departmental Honors students must complete an honors thesis and/or other upper division honors courses, while maintaining an overall grade-point ratio of 3.40 or higher. Departmental Honors graduates appear in the line of march wearing the Calhoun College Honors Medallion on an orange and purple ribbon. This medallion is made possible by an endowment established by Mrs. Katherine Inabinet Vickery of Columbia, South Carolina, to honor the memory of her husband and Clemson graduate, the late B. C. Inabinet.

Students wearing the white stoles over their gowns are members of honorary societies that require a minimum 3.00 grade point ratio for membership. The stoles have the University seal embroidered on one side, and on the other side are the emblem(s) of honorary societies in which the student is a member.

Historical Statement

Clemson University is named for Thomas Green Clemson (1807-1888), who left the bulk of his estate to the State of South Carolina for the founding of the institution.

Thomas Clemson was born in Philadelphia in 1807 and educated at the Royal School of Mines in Paris (1828-1832). His early profession was that of a mining engineer; however, circumstances diverted his interests into politics and the life of a southern planter, and he soon became an enthusiastic advocate of scientific agriculture. He had a career as a diplomat (charge d'affaires to Belgium, 1844-1852) and served as the first Superintendent of Agricultural Affairs in Washington (1860). As a scientist he published numerous articles in the fields of mining, chemistry and agriculture. His varied activities included his assistance in the founding of the Maryland Agricultural College, his support of the Morrill Act, his leadership in South Carolina after the Civil War, and his part in founding Clemson University.

Thomas Clemson was the son-in-law of South Carolina's John C. Calhoun, a political figure of national importance during the first half of the nineteenth century. Mr. Calhoun's home, Fort Hill, is preserved on the Clemson Campus as a national shrine.

The academic program at Clemson College began in 1893 with an enrollment of 446. The first "college prospectus" announced only two four-year curricula, supplemented by two two-year preparatory courses. Today the University has six major academic units. These are the College of Agriculture, Forestry and Life Sciences, the College of Architecture, Arts and Humanities, the College of Business and Public Affairs, the College of Engineering and Science, the College of Health, Education and Human Development, and the Graduate School.

The institution is an accredited member of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools; various curricula are accredited by the Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology, American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business, Computing Sciences Accreditation Board, Council on Accreditations of the National Recreation and Park Association, National Architectural Accrediting Board, National Association of State Directors of Teacher Education and Certification, National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education, National League for Nursing, and Society of American Foresters.

Clemson is a land-grant institution. As such, it is engaged not only in its primary academic program, but does extensive research at the main campus and at five agricultural experiment stations located in the State. The University is also heavily committed to a varied program of public service, including the work of agricultural extension which has professional personnel located in each of the State's counties.

CLEMSON ALMA MATER

A. C. Corcoran, '19

Where the Blue Ridge yawns its greatness,
Where the Tigers play;

Here the sons of dear old Clemson
Reign supreme alway.

Chorus

Dear old Clemson, we will triumph
And with all our might,

That the Tiger's roar may echo
O'er the mountain height.

We will dream of great conquests,
For our past is grand,

And her sons have fought and conquered
Every foreign land.

Where the mountains smile in grandeur
O'er the hill and dale.

Here the Tiger lair is nestling
Swept by storm and gale.

We are brothers strong in manhood,
For we work and strive;

And our alma mater reigneth
Ever in our lives.

Note: Candidates appearing in this program are not certified graduates. Likewise, academic honors designations are based upon performance prior to final grades. Both certification of graduation and honors designations must come from the Registrar of the University.
