Graduation Exercises
December 17, 1992
Clemson, South Carolina

For your convenience, a First Aid station staffed by a Registered Nurse is located at Portal O.

Littlejohn Coliseum is equipped with a fire alarm evacuation system. In the event of activation — as noted by sustained horns and flashing strobe lights — please proceed to the closest available exit. Remain outside the building until fire officials deem the building safe to re-enter.

No smoking is permitted in the seating area of Littlejohn Coliseum. Cigarette receptacles are provided around the outer concourse.

You are requested to refrain from loud expressions of pleasure for individual graduates. Such expressions frequently detract from the recognition due the next graduate in line.

Your cooperation is respectfully but urgently requested.

HONORARY DEGREE
GRADY LESLIE PATTERSON, JR.
DOCTOR OF LAWS

South Carolinian Grady Patterson has served the State of South Carolina with honor and distinction for most of his adult life.

As State Treasurer since 1966, he has presided over the financial affairs of state government during a period in which South Carolina has enjoyed its greatest economic growth. A major factor in this growth has been the state's retainment of AAA ratings on its outstanding general obligation bonds. Such ratings represent the highest status that can be awarded by Moody's Investors Service and Standard & Poor's Corporation. Only a few states enjoy such high ratings, and much of the success in retaining such financial stature can be directly attributed to Mr. Patterson's fiscal management and leadership.

Mr. Patterson was born and reared in Abbeville County and attended Public schools in Calhoun Falls. He enrolled at Clemson, but left after one year to enlist in the Army Air Corps in 1942, serving as a World War II Combat Pilot in the Pacific. After the war, he earned a Bachelor of Science degree from the University of South Carolina and an L.L.B. (Juris Doctor) degree from the School of Law in 1950.

Prior to being elected State Treasurer, he was with the Attorney General's Office for more than seven years. He has considerable experience as a trial attorney in the courts throughout the state.

During his term of office as State Treasurer, Mr. Patterson has held such positions as president of the National Association of State Auditors, Comptrollers and Treasurers. He has served as chairman of the National Association's Tax-Exempt Bond Committee for many years. He is a member of the National Association of State Treasurers.

Mr. Patterson is a member of the Government Finance Officers' Association of the United States and Canada and currently serves as a member of its executive board. He has been a strong supporter of and contributor to the Government Finance Officers' Association of South Carolina. He currently serves as chairman of the Public Finance Network to address key issues related to tax exemption for South Carolina. He is recognized nationwide for his fight to maintain the tax-exempt status of state and municipal bonds. In this effort he has appeared numerous times before Congressional committees.

During World War II Mr. Patterson flew combat in the P-51 Mustang fighter from Iwo Jima in the Pacific. He served in the Air Force during the Korean War and again during the Berlin Crisis in 1961. He has more than 5,300 flying hours of which more than 4,200 are fighter time. He is a command pilot.

In 1984 he retired from the S. C. Air National Guard with 41 years of military service and was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal. Upon retirement, the S.C. General Assembly promoted him to the grade of lieutenant general. He was elected treasurer of the National Guard Association of the United States in October 1990. Mr. Patterson has served as president of the S. C. Air Force Association and president of the National Guard Association of S. C.

Clemson University holds Grady Patterson and his lifetime achievements in the highest regard, and it is a special privilege to present the honorary degree, Doctor of Laws, to him.

The President's Award

FRANK S. BARNES, JR.

FRANK S. BARNES, JR.

Frank S. Barnes, Jr., president and director of the Rock Hill Telephone Co., has spent a lifetime of reaching out.

In his hometown of Rock Hill, he is a former Chamber of Commerce director and past president, a member and former president of the Rotary Club, and a member of the American Legion, Elks Club, Masons, Hejaz Shrine Temple, and Huguenot Society of South Carolina.

He is a former director of South Carolina Federal, C&S National Bank and People's Trust Co. and a trustee of Catawba School. He also lends his expertise to many telephone-industry endeavors throughout the state. A national past president of the U.S. Independent Telephone Association, he was honored with the association's Distinguished Service medallion in 1982.

Like his father, Frank Barnes '15, Frank Jr. received an electrical engineering degree from Clemson. After commencement in 1942, he served his country as an officer in the U.S. Army Signal Corps during World War II.

Clemson, too, has benefited from Mr. Barnes' service. With his family, he has established three funds for the College of Engineering in support of the Barnes Fellowship, Barnes Lectureship and Barnes Laboratory, all in the field of telecommunications.

The University is honored to bestow the President's Award upon Frank Barnes Jr., a man whose reach has been far indeed.

C. HEYWARD MORGAN

C. HEYWARD MORGAN

Greenville native C. Heyward Morgan, president and chairman emeritus of Morgan Investments Inc., is an acknowledged leader both in the business world and in community service.

Before forming Morgan Investments, Mr. Morgan was president and chairman of Star Theatres Inc., Star Enterprises Inc., and Star Amusement Co. Inc. and co-founder, officer and director of Triangle Construction Co. He has been a director of First National Bank - Greenville and of South Carolina National Bank - Greenville.

Mr. Morgan's leadership has extended far into the civic world. A devoted family man, he has still found time to serve as director of the Greater Greenville Chamber of Commerce, North and South Carolina Theatres Association, International Gold Cup Golf Tournament, Greenville YMCA, Salvation Army Red Shield Club and Greenville Blood Center.

Clemson, too, has greatly benefited from the support and leadership of this 1942 graduate. Mr. Morgan and his wife, Nancy, have established the H. and N. Morgan Foundation Inc. Annual Scholarship Program for outstanding Clemson students from South Carolina.

Mr. Morgan is a member of the Clemson Fellows major gift club and a generous supporter of the University's Permanent Unrestricted Endowment.

For all his outstanding leadership and service, Clemson proudly presents the President's Award to C. Heyward Morgan.

The Academic Procession

The Academic procession is composed of the faculty, staff, officers, Trustees, and honored guests of the University. Faculty enter by college and each college is preceded by its marshal, a senior faculty member, with the college baton, described under University Regalia.

Following the marshal is the college banner bearer. Each banner is a combination of colors that declare the disciplines taught in that college. These colors, which were established by the American Council on Education, are as follows:

| College                       | Colors                      | Discipline   |
|-------------------------------|-----------------------------|--|

Collegiate faculty follow their banner in order of academic rank wearing academic costumes of medieval origin. Those who have received their degrees from institutions outside the United States wear costumes specified by the awarding institutions.

The academic costumes of faculty whose degrees are from United States' institutions are specified by a uniform code maintained by the American Council on Education. Caps are black and are usually mortar boards with tassels. Doctors of Philosophy wear gold tassels usually of metallic thread; other degrees wear black or discipline colors.

The bachelors' gown is simple and black with long, pointed sleeves. Masters' gowns, also black, are longer than bachelors. Older gowns have sleeves that terminate at the elbow while those since 1960 have sleeves extended to the wrist. Doctors' gowns are full, with bell-like sleeves. The front is marked by velvet panels and the sleeves are marked by three velvet bars. While most gowns are black with black velvet, one variation is to replace black velvet with velvet in the discipline color. A second variation is a colored gown usually of the university's colors.

All hoods specify the level of degree, the discipline studied and the awarding institution. First, degree level is signified by the size of the hood with bachelors' smallest, masters' larger, and doctors' quite large and of a different shape. Clemson does not award hoods to bachelors. The width of the velvet trim also conveys the degree. Secondly, the discipline is indicated by the color of the trim edging the hood to form the throat over the gown. Finally, the color of the hood's lining specifies the awarding institution. The colors are displayed in combinations that are drawn from heraldry. Notice that the Clemson University hood is lined with purple through which is an orange chevron (a "V"). Although many combinations are duplicated by dozens of institutions, Clemson is presently the only institution with that registered combination.

The officers, trustees, and honored guests wear academic, ecclesiastical, or military regalia as set forth by their professions. They are preceded by the University marshal. Clad in a gown of office in gold and purple, the marshal wears no hood and bears the University mace. At the ceremony's close, the faculty do not exit as a part of the recessional but are dismissed, along with students and guests, when the marshal leaves the coliseum.

The University Regalia

The University mace is the symbolic representation of the whole of Clemson University and must be present at any convocation where the University, through its delegated members, is acting officially. At any official convocation such as commencement, the University Marshal, carrying the mace, precedes the President into the assembly. The mace rests before the President's chair or speaker's stand throughout the ceremony, and its removal from the assembly at the close of a convocation is symbolic of the official withdrawal of the University and, thus, the close of the proceedings.

The decorative design of Clemson's mace is derived from the ceremonial maces carried by heads of state and church in the Middle Ages. Its basic club-like shape, however, is much more ancient, probably going back to man's pre-history. It is made of walnut wood and silver, with the seal of the University in gold and the University colors represented by insets of cornelian (orange) and amethyst (purple). Amethyst is also the state stone of South Carolina.

The Presidential chain and seal is symbolic of the authority vested in the office of president by the governing body of the University. Only the University President may wear it, and while wearing it he speaks for the whole body of the institution. Clemson's chain and seal are made of silver and gold, and cornelian and amethyst.

The batons of the college marshals also descend from medieval "staffs of office" which were carried by the senior members of departments of state or church. They display the seal of the University and the symbolic color of the discipline to which the college belongs. Clemson's batons are made of walnut wood and silver with the various disciplines inset with enamel.

The University regalia were designed and executed by Mr. Robert Ebendorf. Mr. Ebendorf is twice winner of the Tiffany Award and one of the most acclaimed goldsmiths of our era. The enamel plaques for the batons were executed by the late Professor Marshall C. Bell, and the lapidary work was executed by the late Mr. C. C. Wilson of Clemson University.

Coat of Arms

Designed by Clemson University graphic artist, Connie Floyd, the coat of arms represents the historic three-fold mission of this institution: teaching, research and service.

Pictured on the cover, the coat of arms is divided into three parts. The bottom contains a series of open books representing the concept of teaching as the basis of the land-grant university. The white of the books and the purple of the background designate the teaching mission of the University as it is achieved through undergraduate and graduate instruction.

The upper portion of the shield contains two sets of calipers and wheat sheaves illustrating the measurement system for research, as well as Clemson's tradition in agriculture and Extension. The three symbols — the books, calipers and wheat sheaves — also represent the humanities, technology and science.

The entire shield is joined by a small orange center shield bearing a white tiger mask symbolizing the abiding spirit of Clemson.

The crest is a gold palmetto tree, which emphasizes Thomas Green Clemson's desire that Clemson become "the people's university" for South Carolinians. It rises from a band of purple, orange, white and gold. The outer pair of colors, purple and gold, are the official colors of the University; the inner pair, orange and white, are Clemson's student colors.

Historical Statement

Clemson University is named for Thomas Green Clemson (1807-1888), who left the bulk of his estate to the State of South Carolina for the founding of the institution.

Thomas Clemson was born in Philadelphia in 1807 and educated at the Royal School of Mines in Paris (1828-1832). His early profession was that of a mining engineer; but circumstances diverted his interests into politics and the life of a southern planter, and he soon became an enthusiastic advocate of scientific agriculture. He had a career as a diplomat (charge d'affairs to Belgium, 1844-1852) and served as the first Superintendent of Agricultural Affairs in Washington (1860). As a scientist he published numerous articles in the fields of mining, chemistry, and agriculture. His varied activities included his assistance in the founding of the Maryland Agricultural College, his support of the Morrill Act, his leadership in South Carolina after the Civil War, and his part in founding Clemson University.

Thomas Clemson was the son-in-law of South Carolina's John C. Calhoun, a political figure of national importance during the first half of the nineteenth century. Mr. Calhoun's home, Fort Hill, is preserved on the Clemson Campus as a national shrine.

The academic program at Clemson College began in 1893 with an enrollment of 446. The first "college prospectus" announced only two four-year curricula, supplemented by two two-year preparatory courses. Today the University has ten major academic units. These are the College of Agricultural Sciences, the College of Architecture, the College of Commerce and Industry, the College of Education, the College of Engineering, the College of Forest and Recreation Resources, the College of Liberal Arts, the College of Nursing, the College of Sciences, and the Graduate School.

The institution is an accredited member of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools; various curricula are accredited by the National Architectural Accrediting Board, National League for Nursing, Society of American Foresters, American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business, Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology, and National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education.

Clemson is a land-grant institution. As such, it is engaged not only in its primary academic program, but does extensive research at the main campus and at five agricultural experiment stations located in the State. The University is also heavily committed to a varied program of public service, including the work of agricultural extension which has professional personnel located in each of the State's counties.

CLEMSON ALMA MATER

A. C. Corcoran, '19

Where the Blue Ridge yawns its greatness,
Where the Tigers play;
Here the sons of dear old Clemson
Reign supreme alway.

Chorus

Dear old Clemson, we will triumph
And with all our might,
That the Tiger's roar may echo
O'er the mountain height.

We will dream of great conquests,
For our past is grand,
And her sons have fought and conquered
Every foreign land.

Where the mountains smile in grandeur
O'er the hill and dale.
Here the Tiger lair is nestling
Swept by storm and gale.

We are brothers strong in manhood,
For we work and strive;
And our alma mater reigneth
Ever in our lives.
