HONORARY DEGREE
JOSEPH PATRICK RILEY, JR.
DOCTOR OF HUMANITIES

Considered to be one of the most visionary and effective community leaders in America, Charleston native and mayor, Joseph Patrick Riley, Jr., has provided great service to the state of South Carolina and ardent support to Clemson University.

Mayor Riley began his distinguished career as a partner in the law office of Riley & Barr. In 1968 he was elected to the S.C. House of Representatives. As the youngest House member, Mayor Riley co-authored ethics legislation, election law reform and the creation of the S.C. Commission on Human Affairs. His service in the House ended six years later when he won a successful bid to become mayor of Charleston.

During his five consecutive terms as mayor, his bold leadership has accomplished extraordinary results, including: a substantial drop in serious crime; a renewed focus on racial harmony and progress; a vibrant economic renaissance that revitalized downtown and turned Charleston into what U.S. News & World Report dubbed, "the number one city where business is best"; and a cultural and recreational explosion of activity, ranging from the internationally acclaimed Spoleto Festival to the award-winning Waterfront Park. Mayor Riley is perhaps best known, however, for the compassion and effective leadership he exhibited throughout the Hurricane Hugo crisis.

Mayor Riley served as president of the U.S. Conference of Mayors, the only mayor from the Carolinas or Georgia to be so honored. He also chaired the National League of Cities Urban Conservation Task Force and the Cities Task Force of the Southern Growth Policies Board. He was named South Carolinian of the Year for 1990.

A longtime supporter of a quality urban area, Mayor Riley has championed the historic preservation of Charleston's built environment, culminating in his receipt of the 1995 Thomas Jefferson Award for Historic Preservation from the American Institute of Architects, the most prestigious award of its kind. An honorary member of the AIA, Mayor Riley helped found the Mayors' Institute for City Design (MICD), a national organization which has helped over 350 U.S. mayors learn more about the importance and necessity of quality urban design.

Under Mayor Riley's leadership, Charleston has become the model by which historic preservation, urban design and environmental awareness can yield measurable benefits in economic development. Other communities look to Charleston for lessons in restoring and preserving historic neighborhoods, utilizing the downtown commercial area, careful planning for development and transportation, creating dignified affordable housing and valuing the importance of architecture and aesthetic standards in the built environment.

Throughout his career, Mayor Riley's devotion to Clemson has been unwavering. He has provided significant counsel and leadership in the establishment of the Clemson University Architecture Center at the College of Charleston. He was instrumental in obtaining a historic home in Charleston to be used exclusively for Clemson University's outreach programs. Mayor Riley served as a founding member of the first advisory board for the College of Architecture and has been a significant contributor for eight years. In addition to being a guest lecturer at Clemson, he has also addressed numerous national, state and regional conferences on urban and rural planning for design excellence and historic preservation.

We hold Mayor Joe Riley and his lifetime achievements in the highest esteem. In recognition of his contributions to South Carolina, to historic preservation and his remarkable service to Clemson University, it is a distinct privilege to present him with the Doctor of Humanities honorary degree.

The Academic Procession

The Academic procession is composed of the faculty, staff, officers, trustees, and honored guests of the University. Faculty enter by college and each college is preceded by its marshal, a senior faculty member, with the college baton, described under University Regalia.

The college banners are placed on the stage. Each banner is a combination of colors that declare the disciplines taught in that college. These colors, which were established by the American Council on Education, are as follows:

| College | Colors | Discipline |
|-----------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Agriculture, Forestry and Life Sciences | Maize Brown Golden Yellow | Agriculture Forestry Life Sciences |
| Architecture, Arts and Humanities | Lilac Brown White Dark Blue | Architecture Arts Humanities Philosophy |
| Business and Public Affairs | Drab Copper Peacock Blue Cream | Accounting and Business Economics Public Administration Social Sciences |
| Engineering and Science | Orange Golden Yellow | Engineering Science |
| Health, Education and Human Development | Light Blue Apricot Cream | Education Nursing Social Sciences |
| Library | Lemon Yellow | Library |
| Staff | Purple and Orange | Academic Support |
| Faculty Senate | Purple and White | Instruction |

Collegiate faculty follow their marshal in order of academic rank wearing academic costumes of medieval origin. Those who have received their degrees from institutions outside the United States wear costumes specified by the awarding institutions.

The academic costumes of faculty whose degrees are from United States' institutions are specified by a uniform code maintained by the American Council on Education. Caps are black and are usually mortar boards with tassels. Doctors of Philosophy wear gold tassels usually of metallic thread; other degrees wear black or discipline colors.

The bachelor's gown is simple and black with long, pointed sleeves. Masters' gowns, also black, are longer than bachelors. Older gowns have sleeves that terminate at the elbow while those since 1960 have sleeves extended to the wrist. Doctors' gowns are full, with bell-like sleeves. The front is marked by velvet panels and the sleeves are marked by three velvet bars. While most gowns are black with black velvet, one variation is to replace black velvet with velvet in the discipline color. A second variation is a colored gown usually of the university's colors.

All hoods specify the level of degree, the type of discipline studied and the awarding institution. First, degree level is signified by the size of the hood with bachelors' smallest, masters' larger, and doctors' quite large and of a different shape. Clemson does not award hoods to bachelors. The width of the velvet trim also conveys the degree. Secondly, the degree is indicated by the color of the trim edging the hood to form the throat over the gown. The most frequently seen is dark blue, which designates the doctor of philosophy (Ph.D.) degree. Finally, the color of the hood's lining specifies the awarding institution. The colors are displayed in combinations that are drawn from heraldry. Notice that the Clemson University hood is lined with purple through which is an orange chevron (a "V"). Although many combinations are duplicated by dozens of institutions, Clemson is presently the only institution with that registered combination.

The officers, trustees, and honored guests wear academic, ecclesiastical, or military regalia as set forth by their professions. They are preceded by the University Marshal. Clad in a gown of office in gold and purple, the marshal wears no hood and bears the University mace. At the ceremony's close, the faculty do not exit as a part of the recessional but are dismissed, along with students and guests, when the marshal leaves the coliseum.

*Cum laude: A grade point ratio of 3.40 to 3.69

Magna cum laude: A grade point ratio of 3.70 to 3.89

Summa cum laude: A grade point ratio of 3.90 to 4.00

+Departmental Honors: The graduates so designated have completed an enriched program of study designed by their departments with the approval of the Calhoun College Honors Program. To earn Departmental Honors students must complete an honors thesis and/or other upper division honors courses, while maintaining an overall grade-point ratio of 3.40 or higher. Departmental Honors graduates appear in the line of march wearing the Calhoun College Honors Medallion on an orange and purple ribbon. This medallion is made possible by an endowment established by Mrs. Katherine Inabinet Vickery of Columbia, South Carolina, to honor the memory of her husband and Clemson graduate, the late B. C. Inabinet.

Students wearing the white stoles over their gowns are members of honorary societies that require a minimum 3.00 grade point ratio for membership. The stoles have the University seal embroidered on one side, and on the other side are the emblem(s) of honorary societies in which the student is a member.

The University Regalia

The University mace is the symbolic representation of the whole of Clemson University and must be present at any convocation where the University, through its delegated members, is acting officially. At any official convocation such as commencement, the University Marshal, carrying the mace, precedes the President into the assembly. The mace rests before the President's chair or speaker's stand throughout the ceremony, and its removal from the assembly at the close of a convocation is symbolic of the official withdrawal of the University and, thus, the close of the proceedings.

The decorative design of Clemson's mace is derived from the ceremonial maces carried by heads of state and church in the Middle Ages. Its basic clublike shape, however, is much more ancient, probably going back to man's prehistory. It is made of walnut wood and silver, with the seal of the University in gold and the University colors represented by insets of cornelian (orange) and amethyst (purple). Amethyst is also the state stone of South Carolina.

The Presidential chain and seal is symbolic of the authority vested in the office of president by the governing body of the University. Only the University President may wear it, and while wearing it he speaks for the whole body of the institution. Clemson's chain and seal are made of silver and gold, and cornelian and amethyst.

The batons of the college marshals also descend from medieval "staffs of office" which were carried by the senior members of departments of state or church. They display the seal of the University and the symbolic color of the discipline to which the college belongs. Clemson's batons are made of walnut wood and silver with the various disciplines inset with enamel.

The University regalia were designed and executed by Mr. Robert Ebendorf. Mr. Ebendorf is twice winner of the Tiffany Award and one of the most acclaimed goldsmiths of our era. The enamel plaques for the batons were executed by the late Professor Marshall C. Bell, and the lapidary work was executed by the late Mr. C. C. Wilson of Clemson University.

Historical Statement

Clemson University is named for Thomas Green Clemson (1807-1888), who left the bulk of his estate to the State of South Carolina for the founding of the institution.

Thomas Clemson was born in Philadelphia in 1807 and educated at the Royal School of Mines in Paris (1828-1832). His early profession was that of a mining engineer; however, circumstances diverted his interests into politics and the life of a southern planter, and he soon became an enthusiastic advocate of scientific agriculture. He had a career as a diplomat (charge d'affaires to Belgium, 1844-1852) and served as the first Superintendent of Agricultural Affairs in Washington (1860). As a scientist he published numerous articles in the fields of mining, chemistry and agriculture. His varied activities included his assistance in the founding of the Maryland Agricultural College, his support of the Morrill Act, his leadership in South Carolina after the Civil War, and his part in founding Clemson University.

Thomas Clemson was the son-in-law of South Carolina's John C. Calhoun, a political figure of national importance during the first half of the nineteenth century. Mr. Calhoun's home, Fort Hill, is preserved on the Clemson Campus as a national shrine.

The academic program at Clemson College began in 1893 with an enrollment of 446. The first "college prospectus" announced only two four-year curricula, supplemented by two two-year preparatory courses. Today the University has six major academic units. These are the College of Agriculture, Forestry and Life Sciences, the College of Architecture, Arts and Humanities, the College of Business and Public Affairs, the College of Engineering and Science, the College of Health, Education and Human Development, and the Graduate School.

The institution is an accredited member of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools; various curricula are accredited by the Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology, American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business, Computing Sciences Accreditation Board, Council on Accreditations of the National Recreation and Park Association, National Architectural Accrediting Board, National Association of State Directors of Teacher Education and Certification, National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education, National League for Nursing, and Society of American Foresters.

Clemson is a land-grant institution. As such, it is engaged not only in its primary academic program, but does extensive research at the main campus and at five agricultural experiment stations located in the State. The University is also heavily committed to a varied program of public service, including the work of agricultural extension which has professional personnel located in each of the State's counties.

CLEMSON ALMA MATER

A. C. Corcoran, '19

Where the Blue Ridge yawns its greatness,
Where the Tigers play;

Here the sons of dear old Clemson
Reign supreme alway.

Chorus

Dear old Clemson, we will triumph
And with all our might,

That the Tiger's roar may echo
O'er the mountain height.

We will dream of great conquests,
For our past is grand,

And her sons have fought and conquered
Every foreign land.

Where the mountains smile in grandeur
O'er the hill and dale.

Here the Tiger lair is nestling
Swept by storm and gale.

We are brothers strong in manhood,
For we work and strive;

And our alma mater reigneth
Ever in our lives.

Note: Candidates appearing in this program are not certified graduates. Likewise, academic honors designations are based upon performance prior to final grades. Both certification of graduation and honors designations must come from the Registrar of the University.
