TRUSTEE EMERITUS

PAUL QUATTLEBAUM, JR.

PAUL QUATTLEBAUM, JR., Clemson trustee emeritus, public servant, business and civic leader, is a 1933 Clemson alumnus who served his alma mater as a member of its Board of Trustees for a continuous period of nineteen years and ten months. When he completed his fifth consecutive four-year term and left the Board on January 1, 1980, Mr. Quattlebaum concluded one of the longest tenures ever of an elected trustee. He was first elected to the Board by the South Carolina General Assembly on February 17, 1960. Much of the work of the Board is accomplished in committees where proposals and recommendations are first considered and reviewed and later brought before the full Board. Mr. Quattlebaum served on the Public Relations Committee, the Educational Policy Committee, the Student Affairs Committee, the Development Committee (which he chaired from 1976 to 1980) and the Executive Committee. Born at Conway, Mr. Quattlebaum earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Electrical Engineering at Clemson and upon graduating, organized and became president and general manager of Quattlebaum Electric Company. In 1960 he became director of the Charleston, South Carolina Field Office of the United States Department of Commerce with responsibilities for the State of South Carolina. He is presently a public relations consultant.

DOCTOR OF HUMANITIES

ROBERT COOK EDWARDS

ROBERT COOK EDWARDS, president emeritus of Clemson University, completed an extraordinary career of service to higher education when he retired in June 1979 after twenty-one years as Clemson's chief executive officer. Dr. Edwards often described himself as a "hybrid" president because of the two lives he had led in textile management and in higher education. As Clemson's eighth president, he presided during the University's greatest era of achievement, growth and service to the people of South Carolina, the region and nation. A native of Fountain Inn, his association with Clemson University began in 1929 when he enrolled as a freshman at the age of fifteen. Graduating in 1933 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Textile Engineering, Dr. Edwards began a career in textile management that was to last for the next twenty-three years, except for a four-year tour of duty with the Army in 1942-46. In 1956, Dr. Edwards left a successful management career in the textile industry, returning to his alma mater as Clemson's first vice president for development. Two years later, President Robert F. Poole died suddenly and Dr. Edwards was named acting president. In 1959, he was elected president by the Board of Trustees. During his presidency, the University completed a well-planned growth from military school to fledgling civilian college to major university. Under his leadership Clemson invested more than $100 million in new facilities. Through May 1979, he personally awarded seventy percent of the institution's 40,000 conferred degrees, including all of its doctorates and associate of arts degrees and virtually all of its master's degrees. The honors and recognition which have come his way are countless, and the favorable impact which his efforts have had on the state and nation is attested to by his many friends and colleagues. The junior high school which serves several towns near the University is named in his honor; the Clemson Board of Trustees in 1978 established the Robert Cook Edwards Endowment for Excellence in Science and Technology; and just last year, Governor Richard W. Riley proclaimed May 11, 1979, as Robert Cook Edwards Day in South Carolina. Dr. Edwards launched a third career last year when he joined Textile Hall Corporation as chairman of its Board of Directors.

HONORARY DEGREE

DOCTOR OF LAWS

LAWRENCE MARION GRESSETTE

LAWRENCE MARION GRESSETTE, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee of the South Carolina Senate and President Pro Tempore of that body, has served the state and nation unselfishly in a career of public service that spans more than a half-century. Since his election to the South Carolina House of Representatives in 1924 and to the State Senate in 1936, he has maintained an unwavering dedication to the strengths of our governmental system and has provided the type of enlightened leadership needed for South Carolina to continue to grow. Senator Gressette's talent is written into the heart of the organic and statutory laws of South Carolina. Some highlights of his legislative accomplishments are: the revision and modification of the State Constitution of 1895, including a total reform of our judicial system, the "home rule" reforms, and adoption of a new article guaranteeing fiscal integrity in government; the support of a sound educational system in South Carolina and particularly the support of technical education, the expansion of vocational and special education establishment of the State Forestry System, which is a model for the nation; and the support of fiscal conservation in government operations, which has helped South Carolina maintain its Triple A rating in the nation's financial markets and saved the State millions of dollars in capital improvement bonds. Senator Gressette was born in Orangeburg County, was graduated from St. Matthews High School, and the University of South Carolina with a bachelor's degree in law in 1924; The same year he began his legislative career as a Democrat from Calhoun County. In the State Senate he also serves as vice chairman of the Committee on Education, chairman of the Committee on Interstate Cooperation, and is a member of the Governing Board of the Council of State Governments. He has served as chairman of the Senate Education Committee and the Senate Committee on Military Affairs. In 1975 Senator Gressette was honored for his work for the mentally retarded by the naming of the Calhoun County Child Development Center as the Marion Gressette Center in Cameron. In recognition of his service to the State, Governor James B. Edwards officially proclaimed March 6, 1977, as L. Marion Gressette Day in South Carolina.

The University Regalia

The University mace is the symbolic representation of the whole of Clemson University and must be present at any convocation where the University, through its delegated members, is acting officially. At any official convocation such as commencement, the University Marshal, carrying the mace, precedes the President into the assembly. The mace rests before the President's chair or speaker's stand throughout the ceremony, and its removal from the assembly at the close of a convocation is symbolic of the official withdrawal of the University and, thus, the close of the proceedings.

The decorative design of Clemson's mace is derived from the ceremonial maces carried by heads of state and church in the Middle Ages. Its basic club-like shape, however, is much more ancient, probably going back to man's pre-history. It is made of walnut wood and silver, with the seal of the University in gold and the University colors represented by insets of cornelian (orange) and amethyst (purple). Amethyst is also the state stone of South Carolina.

The Presidential chain and seal is symbolic of the authority vested in the office of president by the governing body of the University. Only the University President may wear it, and while wearing it he speaks for the whole body of the institution. Clemson's chain and seal are made of silver and gold, and cornelian and amethyst.

The batons of the college marshals also descend from medieval "staffs of office" which were carried by the senior members of departments of state or church. They display the seal of the University and the symbolic color of the discipline to which the college belongs. Clemson's batons are made of walnut wood and silver with the various disciplines inset with enamel.

The University regalia were designed and executed by Mr. Robert Ebendorf. Mr. Ebendorf is twice winner of the Tiffany Award and one of the most acclaimed young goldsmiths of our era. The enamel plaques for the batons were executed by the late Professor Marshall C. Bell, and the lapidary work was executed by Mr. C. C. Wilson of Clemson University.

Historical Statement

Clemson University is named for Thomas Green Clemson (1807-1888), who left the bulk of his estate to the State of South Carolina for the founding of the institution.

Thomas Clemson was born in Philadelphia in 1807 and educated at the Royal School of Mines in Paris (1828-1832). His early profession was that of a mining engineer; but circumstances diverted his interests into politics and the life of a southern planter, and he soon became an enthusiastic advocate of scientific agriculture. He had a career as a diplomat (charge d'affairs to Belgium, 1844-1852) and served as the first Superintendent of Agricultural Affairs in Washington (1860). As a scientist he published numerous articles in the fields of mining, chemistry, and agriculture. His varied activities included his assistance in the founding of the Maryland Agricultural College, his support of the Morrill Act, his leadership in South Carolina after the Civil War, and his part in founding Clemson University.

Thomas Clemson was the son-in-law of South Carolina's John C. Calhoun, a political figure of national importance during the first half of the nineteenth century. Mr. Calhoun's home, Fort Hill, is preserved on the Clemson Campus as a national shrine.

The academic program at Clemson College began in 1893 with an enrollment of 446. The first "college prospectus" announced only two four-year curricula, supplemented by two two-year preparatory courses. Today the University has ten major academic units. These are the College of Agricultural Sciences, the College of Architecture, the College of Education, the College of Engineering, the College of Forest and Recreation Resources, the College of Industrial Management and Textile Science, the College of Liberal Arts, the College of Nursing, the College of Sciences, and the Graduate School.

The institution is an accredited member of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools; various curricula are accredited by the National Architectural Accrediting Board, National League for Nursing, Society of American Foresters, American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business, Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology, and National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education.

Clemson is a land-grant institution. As such, it is engaged not only in its primary academic program, but does extensive research at the main campus and at five agricultural experiment stations located in the State. The University is also heavily committed to a varied program of public service, including the work of agricultural extension which has professional personnel located in each of the State's counties.

CLEMSON ALMA MATER

A. C. Corcoran, '19

Where the Blue Ridge yawns its greatness,
Where the Tigers play;
Here the sons of dear old Clemson
Reign supreme alway.

Chorus

Dear old Clemson, we will triumph
And with all our might,
That the Tiger's roar may echo
O'er the mountain height.

We will dream of great conquests,
For our past is grand,
And her sons have fought and conquered
Every foreign land.

Where the mountains smile in grandeur
O'er the hill and dale,
Here the Tiger lair is nestling
Swept by storm and gale.

We are brothers strong in manhood,
For we work and strive;
And our alma mater reigneth
Ever in our lives.
