HONORARY DEGREE
SUSAN GOODWIN DELONY
DOCTOR OF HUMANITIES

Esteemed University leader for two decades, Susan Goodwin Delony was instrumental in defining the social and educational culture of today's Clemson University. The contributions she made to students, colleagues and the future of Clemson are immeasurable and resonate in the lives she personally touched and in those who never knew her but feel her impact today.

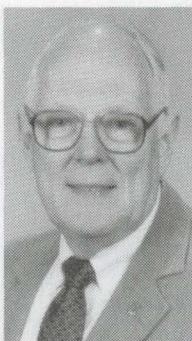

Dean Delony received her bachelor's degree in 1945 from Auburn University and her master's from Cornell University in 1951. She followed her formal education with summer studies at Michigan State and the Teachers College of Columbia University.

Her first appointment in Academe was as an instructor at the Woman's College of North Carolina, followed by assistant professorships at Montana State College and Auburn University. Dean Delony became the assistant dean of women at Auburn in 1957 and remained there until 1963 when she was hired as the first dean of women at Clemson. For 14 years, she served in this post and was later promoted to associate dean of students.

When Dean Delony joined Clemson's ranks, there was a great need for programs, opportunities and facilities for women. (They had been admitted to Clemson only years before, in 1955.) Dean Delony met this challenge with resolve and passion. During her tenure, she was instrumental in the formation and development of the Residence Hall Program for women and the Resident Assistant Program. In 1969, she brought national women's social fraternities to Clemson, establishing the foundation for the successful Greek Life the University enjoys today. She helped found Alpha Lambda Delta freshman honor society as well as Mortar Board. President Emeritus Walter Cox has called hiring Dean Delony "one of the best recommendations I made in my tenure at Clemson."

In addition to her achievements at the University, Dean Delony has provided outstanding service to her community. While enjoying retirement in her birthplace of Tuscumbia, Alabama, she retains active membership in her church and has served on a feasibility study for the Consolidation Committee of Tuscumbia. She is past president of the Maud Lindsay Study Club, volunteer of the Tennessee Valley Art Association Guild and has served and is currently on the Board of Friends of the Helen Keller Public Library.

Dean Delony has made it her life's work to establish a high standard of character and vision for all with whom she has contact. Her spirit pervades the campus each and every day the University thrives. It is with great honor and pleasure that we recognize this individual who truly made a difference in the lives of students and of this University during a critical time in its history. We hereby present Susan Goodwin Delony with the honorary Doctor of Humanities degree.

ROBERT FRANCIS NOWACK
DOCTOR OF LAWS

As a teacher, adviser, friend, confidant, colleague and mentor, Robert Francis Nowack epitomizes excellence. For over 50 years, he has served Clemson University in numerous capacities—from the Clemson Little Theatre to the Social Committee of Clemson College to being a charter member of Omicron Delta Kappa. He has contributed not only to Clemson University, but to tens of thousands of students who now define the cultural, social and educational fabric of America.

Professor Bob Nowack, or P.B. as he is better known, received his bachelor's degree from Carnegie Mellon and a master's from the University of Pittsburgh. He also attended VPI for post-graduate work. He began teaching at Clemson on September 1, 1948, and has been here ever since.

Once referred to by President Emeritus Robert Edwards as "one of the truly great teachers in Clemson's first century of service to mankind," P.B. has served under seven of 14 presidents and has won virtually every award the University bestows. He was the first recipient of the Byars Award for Teaching Excellence in Engineering Mechanics and the Frank F. Burtner Award for Advising. He has been a member of the Order of Athena Chapter of Mortar Board National Honor Society, Tiger Brotherhood, Blue Key and Chi Epsilon. He's won the National Society of Professional Engineers Educator of the Year Award, Tau Beta Pi Eminent Engineer Award, Chi Epsilon Outstanding Teacher Award, Robert W. Moorman Award from Tiger Brotherhood, Algernon Sidney Sullivan Award and Master Teacher Award. In 1989 he was honored as an Alumni Distinguished Professor of Civil Engineering.

Although highly decorated by official honors and awards, P.B. is best known for his teaching style, his relationship with students, his ability to befriend and father. He's been known to spend five hours per day just talking with students in his office. He learns every student's name in his classes, so he builds a personal relationship with each one of them. There are thousands of students who are inspired by his wisdom and achieve beyond their hopes because of his encouragement. As one colleague said, "P.B. does more than educate students; he makes them better human beings."

Maybe P.B.'s contributions are best summarized in the words of one of his students: "What really sets you apart from other professors is your interest in each of your students as individuals, not merely as students. Teachers who take this kind of approach to students are the ones who truly make a difference in shaping our lives."

Because of his dedication and genuine concern for students as well as his unsurpassed loyalty and 50-year service to Clemson University, we are honored to present Professor Robert Francis Nowack with the honorary Doctor of Laws degree.

The Academic Procession

The Academic procession is composed of the faculty, staff, officers, trustees, and honored guests of the University. Faculty enter by college and each college is preceded by its marshal, a senior faculty member, with the college baton, described under University Regalia.

The college banners are placed on the stage. Each banner is a combination of colors that declare the disciplines taught in that college. These colors, which were established by the American Council on Education, are as follows:

College	Colors	Discipline
Agriculture, Forestry and Life Sciences	Maize Brown Golden Yellow	Agriculture Forestry Life Sciences
Architecture, Arts and Humanities	Lilac Brown White Dark Blue	Architecture Arts Humanities Philosophy
Business and Public Affairs	Drab Copper Peacock Blue Cream	Accounting and Business Economics Public Administration Social Sciences
Engineering and Science	Orange Golden Yellow	Engineering Science
Health, Education and Human Development	Light Blue Apricot Cream	Education Nursing Social Sciences
Library	Lemon Yellow	Library
Staff	Purple and Orange	Academic Support
Faculty Senate	Purple and White	Instruction

Collegiate faculty follow their marshal in order of academic rank wearing academic costumes of medieval origin. Those who have received their degrees from institutions outside the United States wear costumes specified by the awarding institutions.

The academic costumes of faculty whose degrees are from United States' institutions are specified by a uniform code maintained by the American Council on Education. Caps are black and are usually mortar boards with tassels. Doctors of Philosophy wear gold tassels usually of metallic thread; other degrees wear black or discipline colors.

The bachelor's gown is simple and black with long, pointed sleeves. Masters' gowns, also black, are longer than bachelors. Older gowns have sleeves that terminate at the elbow while those since 1960 have sleeves extended to the wrist. Doctors' gowns are full, with bell-like sleeves. The front is marked by velvet panels and the sleeves are marked by three velvet bars. While most gowns are black with black velvet, one variation is to replace black velvet with velvet in the discipline color. A second variation is a colored gown usually of the university's colors.

All hoods specify the level of degree, the type of discipline studied and the awarding institution. First, degree level is signified by the size of the hood with bachelors' smallest, masters' larger, and doctors' quite large and of a different shape. Clemson does not award hoods to bachelors. The width of the velvet trim also conveys the degree. Secondly, the degree is indicated by the color of the trim edging the hood to form the throat over the gown. The most frequently seen is dark blue, which designates the doctor of philosophy (Ph.D.) degree. Finally, the color of the hood's lining specifies the awarding institution. The colors are displayed in combinations that are drawn from heraldry. Notice that the Clemson University hood is lined with purple through which is an orange chevron (a "V"). Although many combinations are duplicated by dozens of institutions, Clemson is presently the only institution with that registered combination.

The officers, trustees, and honored guests wear academic, ecclesiastical, or military regalia as set forth by their professions. They are preceded by the University Marshal. Clad in a gown of office in gold and purple, the marshal wears no hood and bears the University mace. At the ceremony's close, the faculty do not exit as a part of the recessional but are dismissed, along with students and guests, when the marshal leaves the coliseum.

+Departmental Honors: The graduates so designated have completed an enriched program of study designed by their departments with the approval of the Calhoun College Honors Program. To earn Departmental Honors students must complete an honors thesis and/or other upper division honors courses, while maintaining an overall grade-point ratio of 3.40 or higher. Departmental Honors graduates appear in the line of march wearing the Calhoun College Honors Medallion on an orange and purple ribbon. This medallion is made possible by an endowment established by Mrs. Katherine Inabinet Vickery of Columbia, South Carolina, to honor the memory of her husband and Clemson graduate, the late B. C. Inabinet.

Students wearing the white stoles over their gowns are members of honorary societies that require a minimum 3.00 grade point ratio for membership. The stoles have the University seal embroidered on one side, and on the other side are the emblem(s) of honorary societies in which the student is a member.

The University Regalia

The University mace is the symbolic representation of the whole of Clemson University and must be present at any convocation where the University, through its delegated members, is acting officially. At any official convocation such as commencement, the University Marshal, carrying the mace, precedes the President into the assembly. The mace rests before the President's chair or speaker's stand throughout the ceremony, and its removal from the assembly at the close of a convocation is symbolic of the official withdrawal of the University and, thus, the close of the proceedings.

The decorative design of Clemson's mace is derived from the ceremonial maces carried by heads of state and church in the Middle Ages. Its basic clublike shape, however, is much more ancient, probably going back to man's prehistory. It is made of walnut wood and silver, with the seal of the University in gold and the University colors represented by insets of cornelian (orange) and amethyst (purple). Amethyst is also the state stone of South Carolina.

The Presidential chain and seal is symbolic of the authority vested in the office of president by the governing body of the University. Only the University President may wear it, and while wearing it he speaks for the whole body of the institution. Clemson's chain and seal are made of silver and gold, and cornelian and amethyst.

The batons of the college marshals also descend from medieval "staffs of office" which were carried by the senior members of departments of state or church. They display the seal of the University and the symbolic color of the discipline to which the college belongs. Clemson's batons are made of walnut wood and silver with the various disciplines inset with enamel.

The University regalia were designed and executed by Mr. Robert Ebendorf. Mr. Ebendorf is twice winner of the Tiffany Award and one of the most acclaimed goldsmiths of our era. The enamel plaques for the batons were executed by the late Professor Marshall C. Bell, and the lapidary work was executed by the late Mr. C. C. Wilson of Clemson University.

Historical Statement

Clemson University is named for Thomas Green Clemson (1807-1888), who left the bulk of his estate to the State of South Carolina for the founding of the institution.

Thomas Clemson was born in Philadelphia in 1807 and educated at the Royal School of Mines in Paris (1828-1832). His early profession was that of a mining engineer; however, circumstances diverted his interests into politics and the life of a southern planter, and he soon became an enthusiastic advocate of scientific agriculture. He had a career as a diplomat (charge d'affaires to Belgium, 1844-1852) and served as the first Superintendent of Agricultural Affairs in Washington (1860). As a scientist he published numerous articles in the fields of mining, chemistry and agriculture. His varied activities included his assistance in the founding of the Maryland Agricultural College, his support of the Morrill Act, his leadership in South Carolina after the Civil War, and his part in founding Clemson University.

Thomas Clemson was the son-in-law of South Carolina's John C. Calhoun, a political figure of national importance during the first half of the nineteenth century. Mr. Calhoun's home, Fort Hill, is preserved on the Clemson Campus as a national shrine.

The academic program at Clemson College began in 1893 with an enrollment of 446. The first "college prospectus" announced only two four-year curricula, supplemented by two two-year preparatory courses. Today the University has six major academic units. These are the College of Agriculture, Forestry and Life Sciences, the College of Architecture, Arts and Humanities, the College of Business and Public Affairs, the College of Engineering and Science, the College of Health, Education and Human Development, and the Graduate School.

The institution is an accredited member of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools; various curricula are accredited by the Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology, American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business, American Council for Construction Education, American Society of Landscape Architects, Computing Science Accreditation Board, Human Factors and Ergonomics Society, International Association for Management Education, National Architectural Accrediting Board, National Association of Industrial Technology, National Association of State Directors of Teacher Education and Certification, National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education, National League for Nursing, Planning Accrediting Board, and Society of American Foresters.

Clemson is a land-grant institution. As such, it is engaged not only in its primary academic program, but does extensive research at the main campus and at five agricultural experiment stations located in the State. The University is also heavily committed to a varied program of public service, including the work of agricultural extension which has professional personnel located in each of the State's counties.

CLEMSON ALMA MATER

A. C. Corcoran, '19

Where the Blue Ridge yawns its greatness,
Where the Tigers play;

Here the sons of dear old Clemson
Reign supreme alway.

Chorus

Dear old Clemson, we will triumph
And with all our might,

That the Tiger's roar may echo
O'er the mountain height.

We will dream of great conquests,
For our past is grand,

And her sons have fought and conquered
Every foreign land.

Where the mountains smile in grandeur
O'er the hill and dale.

Here the Tiger lair is nestling
Swept by storm and gale.

We are brothers strong in manhood,
For we work and strive;

And our alma mater reigneth
Ever in our lives.
