HONORARY DEGREE
DOCTOR OF LAWS
ERNEST FREDERICK HOLLINGS

ERNEST FREDERICK HOLLINGS, one of the most popular and effective leaders in state and national government in recent history, has been a key figure in the political life of South Carolina for many years. His distinguished career of public service to the state and nation spans the past thirty-three years since he was first elected to the South Carolina General Assembly in 1948. Since then Senator Hollings has served his state during three terms in the South Carolina House of Representatives, as lieutenant governor in 1954, and as governor from 1959 until 1963. His outstanding leadership and common-sense approach to good government sent him to Washington, D. C. when Senator Hollings was elected in 1966 to complete the unexpired term of the late Olin D. Johnson. Senator Hollings was elected to a full six-year term in 1968 and reelected in 1974 and 1980. A staunch proponent of a strong national defense posture and fiscal responsibility in government, Senator Hollings also has been an outspoken advocate for a national plan to deal with hunger and malnutrition in America. In 1970 he published a book, "The Case Against Hunger—A Demand for a National Policy," to help gain national attention to the plight of countless Americans without adequate food. His book exposed the hunger problem as one widespread in scope, and it called for a war on hunger in this nation. Senator Hollings' counsel as well as his reaction and response to White House programs and policies are frequently sought by his congressional colleagues. He also is sought for comment by national and state news media because of his reputation for straightforward, no-nonsense appraisals and the ability to articulate a point. In recent months he has emerged as one of the major national spokesmen for the democratic party and frequently appears in the national broadcast and print media. Senator Hollings is a native of Charleston, where he attended the public schools and The Citadel, graduating with a B.A. degree in 1942. During World War II, he served overseas from Africa to Austria for thirty-three months. He returned to school after the war, earning a law degree at the University of South Carolina in 1947. The South Carolina statesman is a member of the Charleston County, State, and American Bar Associations. He has been admitted to practice before the S. C. Supreme Court, U. S. District Court, U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, U. S. Tax Court, U. S. Customs Court, and the U. S. Supreme Court. Senator Hollings has been the recipient of numerous honors and awards, which have recognized his service and contributions to the state and nation. He received the Charleston Junior Chamber of Commerce Distinguished Service Award as Young Man of the Year (1953); the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce honor as one of ten outstanding Young Men of the United States (1954); South Carolina Veteran of the Year (1957); S. C. Man of the Year by WIS-TV (1975); Textile Man of the Year, New York Board of Trade (1979); Distinguished Public Servant Award, U. S. Navy (1980). In 1974, he was the first recipient of the "Friend of Education" Award from the South Carolina Education Association. Senator Hollings is the ranking Democrat on the following: the Senate Budget Committee; the Appropriations Subcommittee on State, Justice, Commerce, and the Judiciary; and the Commerce Subcommittee on Communications.

HONORARY DEGREE
DOCTOR OF HUMANITIES

WIL LOU GRAY

WIL LOU GRAY, known worldwide as a pioneering educator and known in South Carolina as the "First Lady of Adult Education," has spent her remarkable life in the development of what is now the Opportunity School of South Carolina in order to make good a youthful boast of hers: "We have no poor — no illiterate!" The awarding of this honorary degree is in recognition of a lifetime unselfishly dedicated to enriching the lives of thousands of South Carolinians by providing what for many is the luxury of an education. While doing graduate study at Vanderbilt in 1906, she had answered a professor's question with, "We have no poor in Laurens," her home county. The resulting laugh caused her to begin to see for the first time the economic and, therefore, educational needs in South Carolina. But her work as an energetic and hard-working educator began long before back home in Laurens County where she was born in 1883. Having received an A.B. degree from Columbia College in 1903, Miss Gray attended summer session at Winthrop College to study the latest teaching methods. After serving in a one-teacher rural school for a time in Greenwood County, she taught at Wallace Lodge School between Gray Court and Woodruff where her salary for a seven-month term was $35 per month. She had sixty-five pupils ranging from age six to twenty-one in grades one through nine. There she led the community to erect a new two-teacher school that later won first place when the State School Improvement Association offered $100 prizes to the ten rural schools that made the greatest improvement in one year. The first experiment of an opportunity school began in 1921 in the hills of Oconee County when Dr. Gray was State Director of Adult Education. Seventeen girls were admitted for adult education at a fee of $1. The first opportunity school was held at the old Tamassee Mountain School (now Tamassee Elementary School) which, at the time, was operated by the Daughters of the American Revolution. In 1930, nine years after the beginning of her experiment, Miss Gray's success brought an invitation for her to travel to Newfoundland to initiate an adult education program patterned after the one in South Carolina. By 1946 her efforts in South Carolina culminated in the establishment of a permanent opportunity school campus at the old Army Air Base in West Columbia. Today, after 60 years of service to all, the Wil Lou Gray Opportunity School of South Carolina has made leaps since its beginning. It has progressed from a former one-month "lay-by" school, the period of time between cultivation and harvesting of crops in Oconee County, to a full-time nine-months-a-year accredited academic school housed in a modern $3.5 million complex in Columbia, the only school of its kind in the United States. Miss Gray, now ninety-eight, serves as its director emeritus. More than 27,000 students have enrolled for educational pursuits at the school and more than 1,300 have passed the General Educational Development test for a certificate or diploma since 1921. In addition to a changed public attitude toward adult education, Miss Gray considers some of her most personally satisfying accomplishments to be the successful educational program in state penal institutions, the high school equivalency program, and the establishment of a $1.5 million trust fund to provide scholarships to the Opportunity School.

CANDIDATES FOR DOCTORS' DEGREES

ARNOLD EDWARD SCHWARTZ, Dean, Graduate School

COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURAL SCIENCES

DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY
Applied Economics

Caryl Ruppert Ersenka ----- Pendleton
B.A., Manhattanville College; M. U. P., New York University
Dissertation: The Product Cycle in Regional Growth: An Application to South Carolina

Plant Pathology

Bradford Beverly Reddick ----- Portsmouth, Va.
B.S., Randolph-Macon College; M.S., Clemson University
Dissertation: Direct Hybridization Analysis of Bean Yellow Mosaic and Clover Yellow Vein Viruses

Plant Physiology

David Michael Talbert ----- Spartanburg
B.A., Davidson College; M.S., University of Maryland
Dissertation: Herbicide Effects on Biological and Artificial Membranes

COLLEGE OF COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY

DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY
Engineering Management

Thomas Rayfield Gulledge, Jr. ----- Baton Rouge, La.
B.S., University of South Carolina; M.S., Clemson University
Dissertation: Specification and Estimation of Dynamic Production Function for Cost Estimation in Air Frame Production

Management Science

Hugh Charles Haysworth III ----- Sumter
B.A., University of North Carolina
Dissertation: An Imperical Investigation of the Behavior of a Class of Statistical Estimators Based Upon Gaussian Quadrature Formulas

COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING

DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY
Engineering

Imogene Langford Baswell ----- Bessemer, Ala.
B.S., M.S., University of Alabama
Dissertation: An Investigation of the Role of the Metal-Oxide Interface in the Deformation of Nickel
(Field of Specialization: Bioengineering)

COLLEGE OF SCIENCES

DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY
Biochemistry

Bruce Clayton Hansel ----- Louisville, Ky.
B.S., Emory University
Dissertation: Interaction of Long and Short Chain Spin-Labeled Acyl-CoA with the Acetyl-CoA Site on Pig Heart Citrate Synthase

Physics

Peter Anthony Cardega ----- Baltimore, Md.
B.S., Loyola College
Dissertation: Diffusion of Rb+ and K+ in AgBr and AgCl

Zoology

Paul Bernard Hamel ----- Grand Rapids, Mich.

CLEMSON ALMA MATER

A. C. Corcoran, '19

Where the Blue Ridge yawns its greatness,
Where the Tigers play;
Here the sons of dear old Clemson
Reign supreme alway.

Chorus

Dear old Clemson, we will triumph
And with all our might,
That the Tiger's roar may echo
O'er the mountain height.

We will dream of great conquests,
For our past is grand,
And her sons have fought and conquered
Every foreign land.

Where the mountains smile in grandeur
O'er the hill and dale,
Here the Tiger lair is nestling
Swept by storm and gale.

We are brothers strong in manhood,
For we work and strive;
And our alma mater reigneth
Ever in our lives.
